Ryan was identified by photographs. He was indicted in New York City by the United States government as an offender against espionage and neutrality laws of the United States and aiding German spies.

He had been working in the government hospital at Nitro, W. Va.

IDENTITY DOUBTED.

(By Associated Press)

New York, January 22.—The federal district attorney had received no word today that John T. Ryan, long wanted for alleged treasonable activities, and actually indicted for treason yesterday, had been arrested at Gallipolis, Ohio.

It was stated that all information in possession of the federal authorities here indicated Ryan was not in the United States and doubt was expressed as to whether the Ohio authorities had arrested the right man.

He was believed to have fled to Mexico. Ryan is accused of having aided a German propaganda plot among Irish-Americans in this country.

A reward of $250 was offered for Ryan's arrest, according to posters received by the police and sheriff's office in this city.

The poster, which showed two pictures of the man, says in part:

He was formerly an attorney at Buffalo, N. Y., and prominent in connection with the Irish Sinn Fein and anti-British activities. He has used various aliases, among others "Philipine Island Ryan," "William West," "William Roberts," and "William Robertson."

"This man is a serious offender against the espionage and neutrality laws of the United States and in aiding and assisting German spies in New York, and his arrest is earnestly desired by the authorities. The man is 45 years of age."

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 22.—President Wilson's failure to remove restrictions against the construction in American ship yard of steel ships for foreign account was criticised by Senator Jones of Washington, who declared it "unjustifiable and almost criminal."

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS ARE GIVEN LIBERTY

Secy. Baker Orders Discharge of 113 From Ft. Leavenworth.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 22.—Secretary Baker today ordered the release of 113 Conscientious objectors held at Ft. Leavenworth, the remission of the unexpired portions of their sentences, their "honorable restoration to duty" and immediate discharge from the army.

The men released comprise two classes. In one group are 30 men who heretofore had been recommended by the board of inquiry for furlough. Group two includes those men whom the board of inquiry on re-examination found to be sincere and who, in its judgment, would have been recommended for furloughs if they had had opportunity of being examined by it before court martial proceedings.

Secretary Baker in instructing that the discharges should be written on a special form including the following remark:

"This is a conscientious objector who has done no military duty whatsoever and who refused to wear the uniform."

LOCAL MAN HEADS NEW TAXATION COMMITTEE

Senator Frank C. Parrett is Chosen as Head of Important Joint Commission

Legislation Promised by Leaders on Woman's Suffrage Soon

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, O., January 22.—Republican legislative leaders assert that the action of the House Committee on privileges and elections in voting to recommend the postponement of the Presidential suffrage bill introduced by Reynolds of Cleveland, does not mean the majority part is against giving women the ballot.

It is in favor of extending complete suffrage to the women in a manner which the Reynolds bill did not offer, it is explained.

According to House majority leader Beetham and Chairman McCoy of the elections committee it is the purpose of the majority to support the Fouts resolution, proposing a constitutional amendment giving complete suffrage to women. They also stated today it is probable that the Fouts resolution will be amended to move up the date of submission to the voters to November of this year and the effective date to January, 1920.

"The Republican party and its platform is in favor of women suffrage and we expect to enact suitable legislation on the subject," Majority Leader Beetham said.

James A. Reynolds stated today that he did not know yet whether he will oppose the recommendation of the committee on his suffrage bill when the committee makes its report to the House, probably this afternoon.

He criticised Republicans for their action in recommending its indefinite postponement declaring they had gone against their party platform.

The joint bipartisan taxation committee formally organized this morning by electing Senator Frank C. Parrett, Republican, of Fayette, chairman, and Representative Thompson, of Franklin county, Democrat, secretary. The committee announced that it will hold no meetings until the supreme court has handed down its decision in the classification taxation amendment case.

LOUIS JAMISON LOSES IN BRAVE FIGHT FOR LIFE

Death Summons Little Seven-year-old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jamison, Wednesday Morning.

Many close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jamison in this city were shocked, Wednesday morning, when word was received here announcing the death of their little seven year old son, Louis, which occurred at Grant Hospital, Columbus, at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The brave fight which the little lad himself, his parents, physicians and nurses had waged against the grim reaper in the struggle for the young life had aroused a great deal of sympathy and interest among a wide circle of friends in this city and county.

Taken to Grant Hospital some ten days ago, suffering apparently with appendicitis, an X-ray examination disclosed an unusual condition—the presence of a pin in the appendix as the cause of the inflammation which had caused excruciating suffering covering a period of months which the little fellow had borne cheerfully courageous.

The first operation was made with every promise of success but later an unexpected complication developed and a second operation was performed Tuesday night at ten o'clock by Doctors Drury and Hamilton of Columbus and Dr. Roy E. Brown of this city.

Mrs. Jamison has been in constant attendance at the bedside of the brave little son ever since he was taken to Columbus and the father had been present assisting in the vigil at the bedside almost every day.

Tuesday morning the watchers thought a definite change for the better had manifested itself and that the battle would finally be won. Later in the morning, however, unfavorable symptoms developed and Mr. Jamison summoned Mr. W. H. Brown and Miss Mepha Worthington, family friends. A change for the better occurred and the devoted friends returned home much encouraged. At eight o'clock on Tuesday evening the little patient's condition became rapidly worse and Dr. Roy E. Brown, Mr. W. H. Brown and Mrs. Worthington again hurried to the bedside. Then it was that the

CLEVER RUSE OF PRISONER FAILED IS NOW IN WORKS

Sheriff N. B. Hall Tuesday evening foiled what probably was a clever ruse for a jail delivery, perpetrated by Robert Smith, burly negro under sentence of 90 days in the workhouse for resisting an officer when he was taken in tow on Sunday by Detective Lincum.

Late Tuesday evening Smith called for a broom under pretext of sweeping the jail, although it was the first evidence of cleanliness he had shown since being confined in the jail.

This aroused the suspicions of Sheriff Hall, and his suspicions were later increased when the fellow swept the litter into a neat pile near the door and sent word that he was ready to have it removed.

There was every indication that the man intended to seize and overpower the sheriff when he opened the door to remove the litter, and care was taken to guard against such an attack, to the apparent disappointment of Smith who knew that he must go to the workhouse Wednesday morning.

Wednesday morning when Deputy Sheriff Nelson was ready to start to the works with his man he handcuffed him before he permitted him outside of the jail, and took every precaution to guard against a surprise attack by the fellow, who is believed by the officers to be one of the most desperate criminals finding lodgement in the county jail in recent years.

ONLY BASIC RATE TO HAVE DECREASE

In addition to the information previously carried regarding the new telephone rates and provisions attached under the new method, it is stated that the basic rate, known as the "station to station" rate, is the only rate effected by the lower rates of the evening and night periods.

In other words the subscriber to subscriber rate and the messenger or appointment rate will be no cheaper during the evening and night periods, although there is a big reduction in the station to station rates.

Assistant Bandmaster Walter Larimer, of the 2nd Field Artillery Band visited his relatives in this city on Wednesday while enroute from Columbus to Camp Knox, near Louisville, Ky.

It is the first time in five years that young Larimer has been back to this city, having been in the military service for over five years, three years of which he spent in the Philippine Islands. The Second Field Artillery and band left the Philippine Islands for France, last year, landing at San Francisco, crossing the United States, embarking at an eastern port and arrived in France just two days before the armistice was signed.

17 VOLUNTEERS IN FAYETTE COUNTY

So far Captain Geo. C. Jenkins, who is compiling a list of all the soldiers entering the service from Fayette county, has received notice of only 17 volunteers from the county, outside of the members of M Company—some 150 in number—and as he is very anxious to make a complete list, and it is to the advantage of all persons having relatives in the war to furnish him with their names, he will be glad to have the information without delay.

As a matter of fact there were scores of volunteers in Fayette county, and their names should be communicated to Captain Jenkins without delay.

MEETINGS GROW IN PUBLIC INTEREST

The interest in the meetings at the Presbyterian Church is growing daily and the audience of Tuesday evening thoroughly enjoyed the meeting and gained inspiration.

A short song service preceded Dr. Paulson's splendid sermon. His text was taken from the book of Joel, that "God is the hope of his people; but he dwelt upon the marginal interpretation that "God is the repair shop of his people." He said that a disordered life, mentally depressed found great joy in believing, and that unbelief could be restored, reaching the climax that there was no life so broken morally or spiritually, but what it could be repaired.

Mr. McWilliams closed the services with a vocal solo.

SCIENTISTS ASK BAN REMOVAL

Columbus, O., January 22.—Christian Scientists have submitted to the general assembly a measure they believe is minus some of the features objected to in former efforts to get exemption from the medical practice control act.

The bill specifies Christian Science instead of referring in a general way to healing by spiritual means or prayer.

Objection to the exemption formerly was made that it would throw the door wide open to imposters, soothsayers and others professing to practice under the guise of religion.

Thirty States' Experience.

Senator Davis of Youngstown and Representative Morris of Cincinnati, in the senate and house, respectively, yesterday introduced a bill which would add these words to the medical practice law:

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to apply to persons practicing Christian Science, with or without compensation, provided they do not prescribe or administer drugs or medicine, nor perform surgical or physical operations, nor assume the title of, physicians or surgeons, and provided they shall not be exempt from the operation and enforcement of the sanitary and quarantine laws of the state.

The bill, as introduced, is verbatim the proposal recommended by Senator Howell Wright, secretary of the Cleveland Hospital council, who was appointed by Governor Cox to make a study of and offer recommendations regarding supervision and regulation of hospitals under the operation of the medical practice act.

Senator Wright wrote to the medical boards and public health departments of 30 states which have legalized Christian Science, asking whether imposters have taken advantage of the exemption, whether Christian Science practitioners have observed the provisions of the sanitary code, and whether they failed to report contagious and infectious diseases.

Not a Menace.

After giving a digest of replies, Wright, in his report to the governor, makes this comment:

"Certainly Christian Scientists cannot be held responsible for the existence of a few imposters and, admittedly, from the information secured, the number is limited. The replies indicate a strong willingness and tendency on the part of Christian Scientists to comply with the sanitary rules and regulations as to reporting of contagious diseases. And, very apparently, medical officials in but a few states consider Christian Scientists a menace to public health. On the whole the information secured favors Christian Science and would seem to justify the exemption from medical practice acts in force in 30 other states."

Our War Work Council

The people of Washington and Fayette county have realized that all of our big program of war work financing has gone along smoothly and effectively. Every demand made upon our citizens has been met promptly. There has been no dragging in the work. No failure and no disturbing campaigns. The people of the city and county have answered promptly every call and in many instances were first, or among the first "over the top" in nation-wide drives.

While, so far as people generally are concerned, these splendid results were achieved without any annoyance or unusual commotion, thinking folks have felt that there was some very extraordinarily effective work being done by some one, and there was.

The members of the Fayette County War Work Council, under the leadership of Mr. M. S. Daugherty, worked untiringly—night after night and day after day, holidays and Sundays, when necessary.

While other folks attended to their private affairs and produced and produced, these men perfected and held together the organization which made possible the splendid results and lifted the burdens and the disturbing work from the people. They organized the working forces of the county and mobilized the resources, distributed the burdens and concentrated effort so that nothing was overlooked and nothing went astray through mismanagement.

They put their hearts, their minds and their energies in the work and the thanks they are now receiving is but part of the gratifying reward.

We think sometimes there is danger that we forget the men and the work they did that made our county's record a clean one in war work—a record second to the record of no county in all the land.

The Ohio State Journal carried Mr. M. S. Daugherty's picture on Sunday last together with a complimentary mention, entirely justified by the facts, as to his achievement in the war savings stamp drive. That's only one achievement of Mr. Daugherty and the war work council.

These men have been soldiers in the nation's army. They deserve all the thanks we are now, just beginning to appreciate the real worth of their work, giving them.

* The men who performed this work should be remembered by Fayette county people through all the years. They have been, collectively, a potent factor in securing for the effort and patriotism of our people a place of honor richly merited.

These are the men who composed the Fayette County War Work Council. Remember these names: M. S. Daugherty, J. D. Post, Frank C. Parrett, A. W. Duff, M. E. Hitchcock, W. W. Hamilton, C. N. Baer, C. A. Reid, Roy T. McClure, Henry Brownell, Ed Fite, H. G. Coffman.

The Fayette War Work Council is now winding up its affairs. The books are being balanced finally. The dollars and cents received will be shown in these balances, the expenditures will all appear, but the appreciation of a grateful community is recorded only by the heart pulses of a patriotic and appreciative people, which will not lessen with the passing years.

The Elections in Germany

If the announced results of the German elections are of any value at all as an indication of the trend of public opinion, they show that the current has set in for the establishment of a more stable government in Germany and that the era of misrule, or no rule, is nearing its end.

It is impossible, of course, to feel assured that the methods used in conducting the elections were such as permitted a free expression of public opinion and that the result correctly records the state of the public mind in Germany.

We cannot attribute to the announced result of the elections in Germany, that conclusiveness that we are warranting in attributing to elections in the United States or Great Britain.

There is this assuring fact, however, that stands revealed in the results—if the anti-radical forces in Germany did not permit a free expression of opinion in the election they at least controlled.

POEM FOR TODAY

WHERE POPPIES GROW

If on that field the poppies grow
"Between the crosses, row on row,"
Why then I say for you and I
"Twere best to let our laddies lie,
That over them the soft-eyed spring,
Her raiment of new grass may bring,
And dot the little mounds of them
With violets to the border's hem.

Yea, let them rest on Flanders field
If it be true that poppies shield
That rotted soil with fairy plumes—
For where flower of passion blooms
There should a soldier lie at rest
Who hath no passion in his breast
That hath not flown from that still clod
Unto the passion of his God.

Where poppies grow our boys shall sleep
The slumber of the soldier deep
With dreams too sweet for us to know—
"Between the crosses, row on row,"
And fitting spot shall that spot be
For those who died for victory,
For those who gave—so true, so wise
Their all in life's great sacrifice.

There 'neath the shadow of the guns
That broke the silence of the blue,
They shall lie still while many suns
Come up, go down—and I and you
Shall feel and know how sweet must be
That field of their Gothsemane
For those dear nodding, wind-blown things
That shall bloom on through far-on springs.

FORMER KAISER IS DISLIKED BY THE HOLLANDERS

Dutch Would Hang Him or Oust Him in a Hurry Says Correspondent

Amerongen, January 15.—(By Associated Press).—Opinion as to what should be done with William Hohenzollern, former German Emperor, is very much divided in Holland, even in the extreme south eastern corner of the province of Utrecht, where is situated the castle of Amerongen, Wm Hohenzollern's temporary abode. Here the rural population contentedly lives under the rule of the gentry who have owned the land around for generations. An opportunity to observe the division of sentiment was afforded the Associated Press correspondent when he sought lodging for the night in a small village hotel. Seated about the office were half a dozen villagers.

After the stranger had been eyed awhile with the furtive suspicion of the rustic towards the townsman, the talk drifted back to its formal channel—Hohenzollern. "What do people hereabouts think of him?" the correspondent asked.

"Think of him? He should be clapped in jail and hanged," rapped out a sharp faced man fiercely. "That's what I think of him."

"Nay, neighbor," expostulated a fat complacent man who looked like a prosperous cattle dealer oozing with war profits, "he don't deserve all that surely."

"What?" ejaculated the first man. "A fellow who had millions of people killed in their battles . . ."

"What I say is" broke in the cattle man, "he always gave thanks to the Almighty. He always praised God. You can see it in the papers. And that's a fit and proper thing to do. There are many worse than he, and it wasn't his fault alone that all them people were killed. What do you say landlord?"

"Aye, that may be true," said the landlord diplomatically. "He had his faults I dare say. But I do say 'tis a sad come-down for a gentleman in his position." And he shook his gray head.

"Pshaw!" said the sharp-faced man. "You bet he lacks for nothing. He lives on the fat of the land. He gets all he wants and more. Currant bread he gets every day, and jam and tea. Folks like that never lack for nothing, eh?"

The village carpenter thus addressed cast a disapproving look over the assembly. "I don't hold with royalty and such," he growled slowly through his teeth, which gripped his pipe like a vice. "There's old Paul Kruger, I never could abide him. When he came to Utrecht I was working at the hotel where he was staying. And twice every day, every day, he had hot pudding. Now I call that sinful; it's scandalous. It oughtn't be allowed."

TERM GENTLEMAN IS WELL DEFINED

London, December 31.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's devoted a large part of a speech the other day to answer the question, "What is an English gentleman?"

He quoted Bernard Shaw as saying: "A gentleman is a man who tries not to take out of life more than he puts in." "That," said the dean, "is a revolutionary definition, but it is strictly true to what at heart we all feel to be the character of a gentleman, and it is a saying which cannot be rubbed in too vigorously in training the young gentleman."

"According to the English school of thought, the usual qualities of a gentleman are truthfulness, courage, justice and fair play, the abhorrence of meanness and crooked dealing, and respect for the personality of human beings as such."

News of Interest to Women

The Browning Club held an interesting meeting in the Federated Club rooms, Tuesday evening. The Art Department had charge of the program, presenting two unusually interesting papers. The paper prepared by Mrs. Carrie Fullerton—"The Ethics of Home Furnishing"—was a clever discussion of the principles which make for beauty and comfort in the home.

"It is all very well to plan our ideal house, our individual castle in Spain—but it isn't necessary to live among intolerable furnishings just because we can't realize our castle. A man may build and decorate a beautiful house, but it remains for a woman to make a home of it for him. The first thought in furnishing should be suitability—the next proportion and always simplicity. Better to have plain furniture that is comfortable—simple curtains, a few good prints on the wall than all the sham things in the world."

We shall be very much happier, when we learn to transform the thing we have into a semblance of our ideal.

We are apt to over-crowd our houses with a heterogeneous collection of furniture. To have less would in many cases be to have more—more tranquility of life—more ease of mind—more knowledge and more real enjoyment."

In the absence of Mrs. Fullerton the paper was read by her daughter, Miss Dorothy.

"War Art"—was the subject of a most entertaining paper by Mrs. Laura Gregg. She discussed the subject under three heads: Pictures to teach strategy; war posters and posters concerning ship building.

"The part artists played in the war was materialistic. They were more than anxious to show that their part in life is not merely ministering to the esthetic sense, but a new thrill came in finding themselves auxiliary teachers of strategy. Many artists of our country turned out landscape that were sent to training camps and used to develop acute observation faculties in young officers.

"The pictures donated for study in the camps were of ample proportion and represented types of European country in which American soldiers fought.

"The historic value of the war-time poster however, its interest as a document more than offsets its occasional weakness as a design for street advertising.

"No intelligent, sane man questions the vital power of inspiring pictures, call them cartoons, posters or whatever you will, ship building posters have stirred the souls of men and mobilized the forces of justice and patriotism in this country from the days of our national infancy. The picture that points a great truth or sounds a call to patriotic service knows no limitations.

A most enjoyable masquerade party was successfully staged by the employees of Craig Bros. last evening in the spacious house furnishings section of the store.

The evening's fun was started by a forty-five minute concert by the Tickridge Silver Cornet Band, composed of the male members of the store's force, who appearing in their blue denim uniforms with red stripes put one over on their fair co-workers by keeping the Band dark until the moment they marched on the floor to the strains of "Under The Double-Eagle."

A vocal solo, trombone solo, cornet and alto duet, solo dance and a drum duet were the features of the concert which were immensely enjoyed by the audience.

The "Great Caruse" as leader and vocal soloist (a La Sonora) was a great success.

After the concert the girls had their inning, their costumes were so effective that recognition was next to impossible.

They were varied and diversified

THE BUDGET

Does your 1919 household budget include "laundry expenses?" And if it does, does it designate how it shall be expended—the old, expensive method, or the new, modern, economical way of sending it to Larrimer's. Better think about this item, for it touches the home purse at least fifty-two times a year.

Charades, dancing and a delicious and informal luncheon completed the most successful frolic, of the many that are held by the store's force from time to time.

The Cecilian program of Tuesday afternoon was varied in its compositions. French music was scheduled for the afternoon but the substituting of other numbers with the French music, gave added enjoyment. Mesdames Fannie J. Hodson, Winnie W. Shoop and Margaret McClure Stitt were hostesses.

GETS COON AFTER MONTHS OF EFFORT

A few mornings ago when a certain farmer was engaged in feeding his stock just about day-break, he discovered a colored man in a tree apparently endeavoring to force some animal from a hollow in the tree, some 30 feet from the ground.

Upon making an investigation he discovered that the colored man was endeavoring to catch a raccoon by means of a steel trap.

Suddenly the raccoon decided that he would make a run for it, and leaping forth he nearly caused the man to fall from the tree. The raccoon was running like mad when he struck the ground, and the colored man literally fell from the tree in his haste to give chase, for he was aware that the raccoon sought safety in a large tile ditch some 300 yards distant. He, also, was running when he struck the ground.

With a 30-yard start it was nip and tuck to see which would reach the tile first, but as the big raccoon was almost ready to take a final plunge to safety, the colored man put on a final burst of speed and seized the animal by the legs and by some deft work got a firm hold about its neck and legs and returned in triumph to the man who had been enjoying the whole performance.

The raccoon grinned at his captor, and the captor grinned at the raccoon. "I done set traps in that tile ditch for months, but I sho' has got 'im at last" explained the thoroughly happy colored man as he headed toward home with visions of roast 'coon looming large before him.

THOUSANDS IN OHIO HAVE SECURED JOBS

Columbus, O., January 22.—(Special)—Increase of the number of workers placed over that of the week before is shown by the report of the United States Employment office in Ohio for the week ending January 11.

Ten thousand one hundred and seventy-one persons were referred to jobs and 7,478 were reported placed as against 9,168 referred the week before and 6,611 placed—an increase of nearly 1,000 placements.

Jobs listed totalled 10,983 as against 9,476 the week before. Applicants for jobs aggregated 20,247.

Increased openings for workers, as shown by last week's figures, indicate a quickening of business with the start of the new year.

WOMAN'S COMMITTEE NAT'L DEFENSE WILL STILL "CARRY ON"

The Woman's Committee of the National Defense was formally brought to a close as a state organization several weeks ago, though it was deemed necessary for Miss Belle Sherwin, the state chairman, to keep her office at the State House in Columbus for the present.

Before disbanding as a state organization each county was strongly urged to make their committee permanent in order to be in readiness to take over what ever government work is needed, also to insure the carrying on of good work already launched.

The Fayette County Branch of the Woman's Committee was instrumental in procuring a Probation Officer for the county, and later induced Mrs. J. Bruce Franklin to take over the position.

Mrs. Franklin stands as the friend of the child, and has already made Fayette county a better place for our boys and girls to live.

The Woman's Committee realizing there is no greater work than the safe guarding and reforming of our children have decided to "carry on" until such time as the Associated Charities, Children's Bureau and many others are looking forward to, that when the stress of war is over the Red Cross will so organize their Civilian Relief to mean not just the families of soldiers, but as the name implies—all civilians.

The Fayette County organization of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense is: Mrs. Carrie Willis, chairman; Mrs. V. J. Dahl, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Frank Stinson, second vice-chairman; Mrs. Herbert Chapman, secretary; Mrs. Val McCoy, treasurer.

DISARM YANK NAVAL STATIONS AT QUEENSTOWN

(By Associated Press)

Queenstown, Ireland, January 22.—Plans for the dismantling of the American naval stations in and around Queenstown are going forward rapidly. Time will be required to remove the base hospital at Whitepoint, and much work will be involved in removing the many big warehouses which were brought here from America and set up in record time. Other important parts of the American plant include wireless stations at Queenstown and Agladra and many hutments.

American officers and men have made a deep impression on the people of Queenstown and in other parts of South Ireland, and relations generally have been of the most cordial nature. This is proved by the fact that a number of weddings have already taken place, and more than one American sailor has promised to return for the girl he must leave behind.

Queenstown has prospered greatly since the station was established here but the people declare their regret in seeing the Americans depart because they have become accustomed to their presence and like them for the fine young fellows they are.

AGENTS WANT MORE MONEY

(By Associated Press)

London, January 22.—Two thousand agents employed by a London insurance company have notified their employer's officers that they will strike unless their weekly wage of about $14.65 is not increased by $5. They have also inaugurated a movement to organize the agents of other companies, and thus enforce the demand throughout the country.

At the preliminary meeting, when the demands were formulated, and the men appointed a committee to call on the directors, their leader, David Jones, of Leeds, advised them to make their demands retroactive from January 1, 1918, in order that they might be repaid for the advanced cost of living in the last year of the war. "If your demands are refused," said Mr. Jones, "take concerted action with in a month." The suggestion was cheered.

The men claim that the company pays to its stockholders 40 percent, free of income tax, on a capitalization of $5,000,000.

HARDING RAPS FAMINE FUND $100,000,000

Ohio Senator Also Says That U. S. Never Entered War For Democracy. Others State Views

(By Associated Press)
Washington, January 22.—Growing opposition and protracted debate covering a variety of subjects again prevented the Senate from reaching a vote today on the bill appropriating $100,000,000, asked by President Wilson for famine relief in Europe.

Vigorous addresses in opposition to the appropriation were made today by Senators Harding of Ohio, Johnson of California, Poindestex of Washington and other Republicans, and by Senator Hardwick of Georgia, Democrat, while those speaking for the bill included Senators Hollis of New Hampshire, Democrat, and Weeks of Massachusetts, who is one of the few Republican Senators who thus far have given the measure support in debate. In the course of his address, however, Senator Weeks criticized many governmental activities.

A definite development of the op position was the introduction of an amendment by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, Republican, proposing that administration of the $100,000,000 fund be placed in the hands of a commission of three members to be named by the president, subject to confirmation by the senate, and to be responsible to Congress. Action on the amendment went over.

Urging action to meet economic conditions in the country, Senator Harding criticized the administration for failing to present a reconstruction program and declared the country was "drifting to chaos." He asserted that President Wilson's policies have been largely responsible for the spread of Bolshevism in Europe and declared that the statement that this country entered the war for democracy "has been a lie from the beginning."

Senator Harding said the world cannot be stabilized by charity and told the senate that if he voted for a bill it would be his last vote for a measure on the plea of "war necessity."

He said the United States never would have entered the war except to protect its rights.

The Ohio speaker asked Majority Leader Martin whether the bill was designed as an agency in carrying out a compact with the nations with which the United States had been allied or whether it was based wholly on charity.

MEMOIR.

Atrilla L. Garringer, daughter of Stephen and Rebecca A. Garringer, was born December 22, 1875 and died January 7, 1919, aged forty-three years and sixteen days.

On October 2, 1895 she was married to Mad'son Dowler. Three children came to bless this home: Roy, Wert and a little daughter who died in infancy. The married life of Mr. and Mrs. Dowler was an unusual one. Their love and devotion for one another seemed never to weaken but to grow stronger as the days and years passed by. Mrs. Dowler was a homemaker, making it ever a place where her husband and children loved to stay and every one found a welcome. She had been a sufferer for many years and although everything that loving hands and means could do was done, they could not stay the hand of death.

She was happily converted under the ministry of Rev. C. A. Hughes and her life ever spoke of the presence of the Master. She was a good neighbor especially kind and helpful to those in sickness and sorrow. She is with us no more. As husband and sons, as father and mother, as brothers and sisters, as friends and neighbors we'll miss her; our hearts are sad. We seek for comfort o'er the earth, we find but little. We look above and hear a loving voice saying, "Let not your heart be troubled. I go to prepare a place for you." And God shall wipe away all tears from our eyes. She is not dead for God took her. To her now we say "Goodbye," and in a better world later we expect to say "Good morning."

CODIFICATION OF FISH AND GAME LAWS PLANNED

Numerous Changes in The Present Laws Proposed Including Licensing of Trappers.

Quail To Be Left On Songbird List and Better Protection For Wild Life Generally.

Fayette County will be much interested in the proposed codification of the fish and game laws of Ohio which will be presented to the legislature for passage by the Department of Agriculture and which changes the form of the fish and game statutes entirely. They will be presented in the permissible form, and each term used throughout the codification is accurately specified and defined. The code is made up in a very concise form and is carefully indexed. The whole code embodies the "more game and better fishing idea." Some of the important provisions included are as follows.

Quail are left on the songbird list. Trappers will be included in the proposed hunters and trappers license, whereas trappers under present law are exempt from license.

All laws governing the taking of wildducks or wild water-fowls are made to conform to federal statutes.

All protection is taken off the fox, but the season on other furbearing animals remains unchanged.

It will be unlawful to catch fish in the inland fishing districts except by angling, and no net, spear, or other unlawful device shall be had in possession. The sale of all inland caught fish except carp and suckers is forbidden.

The name of the officer who will enforce the fish and game law is changed from "Warden" to "Game Protector."

No drastic changes are made, and many of the sections are not changed at all. A very liberal shooting and fishing season is provided throughout. Holes in the law through which violators often escaped conviction have been closed, and it will be unlawful to have a ferret in possession while hunting, while going hunting or returning from a hunt. A heavy fine is provided for any interference with a game protector, or for refusing to accompany such protector when placed under arrest.

Better protection is furnished to wild efflor htghuuoys ETAO SHH wild life throughout and plans made for extensive propagation of game by the state.

Any gun, or other device used in violating a game law may be confiscated by the state, according to the new code, and no silencer may be used on any gun while hunting.

A GREAT CHANGE ENTERS INTO LIFE OF STOREKEEPER

A certain unassuming gentleman in this city who happen to be a prominent dealer in furniture and who up to a few weeks ago had become a recluse because of his physical condition tells this remarkable and most interesting tale:

"For a number of years," he said, "I have been so closely confined to my business working zealously to make my store representative in every respect that wear and tear finally got me, my face became drawn and haggard and my disposition seemed to urge people to evade me. It was then that I began to depise my own company. My bookkeeper who has been with me a long time one day suggested that I needed a rest and that my nerves required attention. She told me that her father had been in the state of health which I was experiencing and that he had taken Phosphated Iron. 'Look at him now,' she said. 'He works ten hours a day and appears to be the happiest man in the world which he believes he is, he says.'"

"All this happend less than a month ago. I followed the advice and look at me now. Back in the harness with a smile all the while. I am feeling more fit than ever. When I see a tired looking face the name of Phosphated Iron immediately comes in my mind. I am convinced that it is converting many a worn out body into a life rich in thought, ambition and enthusiasm."

Special Notice—To insure physicians and patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put up in capsules only so do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets. Insist on the genuine in capsules only.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford One-Ton Truck may well be classed as an agricultural necessity—it fits into and fills so many wants on the farm. It is a reliable bearer of farm burdens—not only doing the work of several horses quicker and better than the horse, and does not "eat its head off" when not working. The aggressive farmer has only to consider the possibilities of the Ford Truck and he is ready to buy one. We judge this to be so from the way farmers are buying them.
